We're building a vegan community-driven platform - honest feedback wanted

Hey r/vegan,

My wife and I are vegan (she's been vegan 10+ years, I'm at 2 years) and we're from Ukraine, currently living in Belgium.

We've been working on plantspack.com - a space for vegans to connect, share places they love, swap recipes, and just have a community that isn't buried in a random Facebook group or all across tons of platforms.

Right now there are:

- Community feed
- 2,700+ vegan places across 29 European countries (sourced from OpenStreetMap, verified and enriched)
- 50+ recipes from creators like ~~Minimalist Baker~~ (those 100 are removed thanks to the valid comment from u/veganeatswhat), Bianca Zapatka, Nora Cooks and others (with full credit and source links)
- Vegan events calendar for 2026
- Curated packs (we made ones for Rome and Barcelona - cities we actually visited -> make yours)

But honestly - I'm sure we're missing a lot - sanctuaries, animal rights organisations, and more. We'd love to work with existing projects to bring all that data together. Because what we actually want to build is a community. A place where you post about a random vegan find in your city and someone replies, where you plan a trip and someone who lives there tells you where to actually go.

We're two people with no funding, no investors, no ads. We built this ourselves because we wanted it to exist.

Please tell us:

- What's missing that would make you actually come back?
- What would make you sign up vs just browsing?
- Is this solving a real problem for you or are we kidding ourselves?
- What is your stance on AI usage for such projects?

Be brutal. We'd rather hear hard truths now than find out in 6 months.

plantspack.com

P.S.

Currently it's based on european data, but we've already worked on some datasets to expand and improve the data quality. The main thing we're missing is feedback and community to drive changes and correlate the path forward.

P.P.S.

I personally commit to implement top 3 highest rated comments with feature or data-requests till the end of next week and proceed with other suggestions moving forward.

Minimalist Baker isn't vegan, just FYI. I'm not the audience for this platform anyway, but if I was, promoting non-vegan sites that happen to have vegan recipes would be a turn off for me from a vegan platform.

SnooCrickets3132 ПОЧАТКОВИЙ ДОПИСУВАЧ • 28 дн. тому

Very valid. I'm in no way trying to promote any of those, just honestly sharing the data source. And this is exactly the comments I'm looking for. The aspiration is to post our own recipes driven by community content, but without initial content platform would feel too empty, yet I agree - wrong source taken in this case. Will clean it up asap.

SnooCrickets3132 ПОЧАТКОВИЙ ДОПИСУВАЧ • 28 дн. тому

Thanks a lot. Removed all recipes from Minimalist Baker and adjusted some guardrails for further data governance.

Also a quick question, if you do not mind, why don't you consider youself an audience for this platform? (we want it to be community driven, so if there is somethiing you can be interested in - I'd be curious to investigate that)

Community sites/social media/self-promoting Youtubers/doomscrolling apps are just not my thing. I barely tolerate Reddit and consider quitting daily 😂. Not on any other social media either, I really think the whole clicks and likes ecosystem is a toxic cancer that I want nothing to do with. All the vegan community I want or need happens IRL through volunteering & activism.

Wow, love that perspective! I'm in IT for so long, that I can't imagine how it is and living in Belgian country-side does not help much with IRL (at least untill I'm 100% integrated here, I guess). Also, I hope, one day plantspack will be big enough to organise or support some events nearby, so we will be able to meet and discuss this. I tend to believe that there is still some potential in digital tools, data catalogs or even social networks that may be more impactful than toxic, but maybe I'm a little delussional here. To some

I'll try to keep ypur perspective in mind moving forward and thanks for sharing :)

P.S. It may still become more of a catalog than a social network overtime, so it may be the direction forward which can be more helpful than feed with likes. We'll see

Wow great work. These are the kind of resources that our community needs and we appreciate the effort. I hope you eventually do expand to other areas, and that your community grows!

SnooCrickets3132 ПОЧАТКОВИЙ ДОПИСУВАЧ • 28 дн. тому

Thanks for the kind words :) What areas are specifically interesting for you?
Would be amazing if you can share some favorite places form your tours and I'll be happy to put them on the map

LifeisMoreTours • 27 дн. тому

I'm open to exploring a number of places but more recently, I've been interested in Central and South America and have been looking into places that are uniquely suited for vegans. That's actually what led me to create my tour in Oaxaca. The region was mainly plant-based pre-Spanish colonization, when they brought livestock. So a lot of traditional dishes are easy to make authentic and vegan, which is cool.

Happy to share some suggestions if you want to DM me with what you're looking for!

SnooCrickets3132 ПОЧАТКОВИЙ ДОПИСУВАЧ • 27 дн. тому

That's cool and quite inspiring. As far as I know it's similar in Asia as well in terms of mainly plant-based lifestyle before modernisation and industrialisation.

Will ping you with some details :)

ExtraSpicyWizard • 27 дн. тому

Wow a HappyCow style site that takes data from OSM instead from Google is all I was waiting for. Finally I'll have the motivation to add and update all vegan and vegan friendly places of my city and beyond to OSM.

Thank you so much for this. You already have a new user, I'll provide more feedback when I'll play around more with it.

What will make this work?

We'd love to hear your feedback once you've had a chance to explore - what's missing, what's broken, what would make you come back daily. Welcome to the pack! 🌱

I realize that the site has a lot of focus on food. I'd likd a vegan social platform which is styled like traditional social platforms, without this emphasis. Just have it as a 'filter-option' is my recommendation. So that people, myself included, can toggle it off.. what do you think?

SnooC... ПОЧАТКОВИЙ ДОПИСУВАЧ • 24 дн. тому • Змінено 24 дн. тому

There some Facebook-like platforms out there for vegan that are solely focused on social aspects, but the initial state of the platform is kind of in between. I'd say there is a twitter-like approach to posts, comments etc. + packs for gathering more specific groups of people. Maybe the reason it feels like food or recipes, or places driven is mainly in the fact that we have 9 users so far. Once it's more active - there is a big chance that social side of it will be more meaningful.

I consider adding more features, like messaging, more playful and interesting profile options etc.

But as we've just started - we hope to understand what people do want to see, so I write your suggestion down and will think on finding the right balance to not become just another toxic social network and not be just a catalog of vegan things.

Also it surely misses content for non-food related categories for now. But we will fix that.

SnooCrickets3132 ПОЧАТКОВИЙ ДОПИСУВАЧ • 28 дн. тому

No, you may surely join as is. I hope we will put more places, events and info all over the world, so that you will be able to find things wherever you are. You may also add your favorite palces to the paltform as well.

Thank you for handling auth w the web app, I don't have google or facebook accounts. So annoying when those are required for login. App looks great btw, will look at more later

SnooCrickets3132 ПОЧАТКОВИЙ ДОПИСУВАЧ • 28 дн. тому

Yes, I tried to make it as simple as possible. Unfortunately there still should be some levels of security with email confirmations and so on, otherwise there would be too much spam very fast, but I hope it's fine as is, for now :) Looking forward for your feedback on the platform usage!

When I open the app there are pop-ups in the map layer that say

Access blocked Referer is required by tile usage policy of OpenStreetMap's volunteer-run servers: osm.wiki/Blocked

Also the alleged location I am in is in the wrong country.

SnooCrickets3132 ПОЧАТКОВИЙ ДОПИСУВАЧ • 27 дн. тому

Thanks for reporting! The tile usage issue should be fixed now, it was a referer policy conflict with privacy-focused browsers. Please try refreshing.

For the location - it's likely the browser's geolocation which can be inaccurate, especially on desktop or with VPNs. You can use the search bar at the top to jump to your actual city or country.

If you still have an issue, please share your approximate location in DMs and/or browser if you don't mind. This would help a lot to fix it.

Thanks for your interest :)

Hey, I cannot remove a place I added neither change the wrong address. Else nice webapp, I look forward to an eventual real app.

SnooCrickets3132 ПОЧАТКОВИЙ ДОПИСУВАЧ • 27 дн. тому

Fixed! You should now be able to edit the address and delete the place from the place page (it will also delete the post connected to it). Please refresh and try again.

Thanks for reporting - this was a missing permission that affected all users.

The mobile app is in the making, but I'd like to test the platform and finalise the core features during April, so that the mobile build is as Aha works 👍 . I already have the next one: On phone it is hard to submit place. The submission button hides below the menu buttons and only shows randomly if I try to scroll up and down many times.

SnooCrickets3132 ПОЧАТКОВИЙ ДОПИСУВАЧ • 26 дн. тому

Fixed the issue with overlapping navigation. Now if form is opened -> this window is on top of navigation, so it should not overlap the buttons. Overall - I find it more convenient to use "Create post" to add places and other things all in same manner, but the fields are relatevely small for mobile usage... this is something I will think on for further user experience improvements.

Thanks for sharing!
